

Let's talk about the weather.

Want to be a voice for your community and share your experience living through extreme weather?

Cleveland is no stranger to extreme weather, intense rain, flooding, and extreme heat. Our climate is actively changing and some people get hit harder than others (over and over again).

qb. (more about us at www.consultqb.com) is gathering a group of people to participate in The Climate Justice Listening Tour.

We want to hear your story including the tough parts of living through these events and navigating day to day life. We can't turn back time, but we can look for better solutions that work for everyone.

Do you ...

- Want to get paid to talk about how extreme weather has affected you and your community? Compensation is $30/hour.
- Have at least 2 hours a week to chat (virtually) from October to November of 2022?
- Feel that you are disproportionately affected by extreme weather?

If you answered yes to all of the above, complete this application ASAP to join the conversation. Openings will be filled on a rolling basis.

Please reach out to Obi Onuba with any questions:

obiageli@consultqb.com. Let us know of any disability accommodations you'll need to make this work for you.

qb. is a small, women-owned consulting firm.

To learn more visit www.consultqb.com or check us out on Twitter, Instagram, or LinkedIn.